Adrian Falconer is a London-based Actor, Stunt Performer and Fight Choreographer with over five years of experience in Filipino Martial Arts (Kali/Arnis), a versatile combat system that combines weapons training and empty-hand combat. As a former WSA (World Sport Arnis) British Champion, Adrian has developed a strong foundation in close-quarters combat, covering disciplines including Kali sticks, edged weapons, Bankaw (Bo Staff), Katana, knife defence and firearms awareness.

The unique nature of Filipino Martial Arts teaches the core principles across both weapons and empty-hand systems, enables Adrian to adapt quickly to a wide range of screen and stage combat styles. This versatility has allowed him to work confidently across multiple disciplines, learning choreography rapidly and applying movement principles to a variety of martial arts systems, performance styles and action sequences.

Adrian trained at the internationally renowned Campus Univers Cascades (CUC) in France, one of Europe's leading stunt performance schools. During his training, he specialised in advanced screen combat, high falls, stair falls, wire work, precision movement, reaction work and vehicle stunt fundamentals, while continuing to refine his performance and storytelling through action. His commitment and development earned him recognition as the CUC International Student of the Year Runner-Up (2025) amongst alumni from around the world. Adrian now works professionally throughout the UK as an Actor, Stunt Performer and Fight Choreographer across Film, Television, Theatre and Live Performance. His recent stunt credits include The Gentlemen (Season 2), The Sandman(Season 2) and Khalifa: The Bloodline.

Alongside his stunt work, Adrian continues to build a reputation as a movement specialist and action creator. His recent fight choreography and movement credits include Little Simz – Young, working alongside acclaimed music video director Dave Meyers and movement director Kloe Dean, as well as serving as Fight Director for the critically acclaimed stage production TRAPLORD, collaborating with Olivier Award-winning creative director Ivan Michael Blackstock.

Combining performance, stunt execution and action design, Adrian's work is driven by a passion for storytelling through movement, bringing authenticity, physicality and character to every project both on screen and on stage.
